

Elders Who Can't Make Ends Meet in Sacramento County As Measured by the California Elder Economic Security Standard™ Index

The California Elder Economic Security Standard™ Index (Elder Index) measures how much income is needed for a retired adult age 65 and older to adequately meet his or her basic needs including housing, food, out-of-pocket medical expenses, transportation, and other necessary spending. For an elderly renter living alone in Sacramento County, the Elder Index is approximately $23,000/year.

Not Just "Poor" Elders who are Struggling in Sacramento County

- 42% of all elders age 65+ do not have enough income to meet their most basic needs, as measured by the Elder Index. That's over 60,000 elders struggling to make ends meet in Sacramento County.
- In contrast, according to the Federal Poverty Line (FPL), only 8% (12,000) of Sacramento County elders are considered "poor," with annual individual incomes below $10,210.
- But a large number of other elders in Sacramento County (48,000 or 34%) fall into the "eligibility gap," with incomes above the FPL but below the Elder Index. These elders don't have enough money to cover their most basic needs, but have too much to qualify for many public programs.

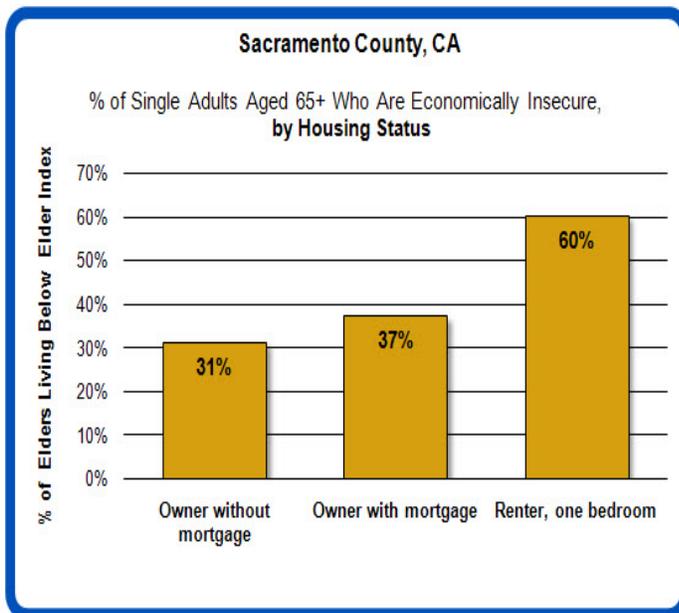

Women Living Alone More Economically Vulnerable

- Historically, women have earned less than men. Today they still earn, nationally, an average of 78 cents for every dollar a man earns. It's no wonder that women living alone are particularly vulnerable.
- Without a partner to share the expenses, and in the face of increasing costs and fixed incomes, almost 1 out of 2 elder women living alone in Sacramento County are struggling to make ends meet.
